Planning for Social Justice Conference

Main Event of the ACRI YITP programme

hybrid conference in person and on line at <https://politecnicomilano.webex.com/j/ae6daf2a-a9ec-46cc-8df4-f0707a001f01>
registration required at <https://forms.office.com/r/3Nsqc6f0W2>

The Young Investigator Training Program (YITP), is a program funded by ACRI that supports 7 young investigators to spend a short-lasting research period in 7 Italian Universities (Sapienza Università di Roma, Università IUAV di Venezia, Università degli Studi di Napoli Federico II, Politecnico di Milano, Università degli Studi di Firenze, Università degli Studi di Palermo, Politecnico di Torino) and to participate to the Planning for Social Justice Conference, which represents its main event.

The Conference will offer an international perspective on planning and its relationship with the concept of Social Justice, aiming at opening a space for critical multidimensional reflection.

The morning will be dedicated to inspiring dialogue with established scholars; the afternoon the young visiting scholars will establish a dialogue with them and the Italian scholars promoting the project based on their current activities, looking for new collaborative exchanges.

The seven YITP partners*:

- Valeria Fedeli / Politecnico di Milano, Dipartimento di Architettura e Studi Urbani
- Daniela De Leo / Sapienza Università di Roma, Dipartimento di Pianificazione, design, tecnologia dell'architettura
- Laura Fregolent / Università IUAV di Venezia, Dipartimento di culture del Progetto
- Laura Lieto / Università degli Studi di Napoli Federico II, Dipartimento di Architettura
- Stefano Moroni / Politecnico di Milano, Dipartimento di Architettura e Studi Urbani
