POSTMODERN ECOLOGICAL HOUSING ESTATES IN THE 1980S - WEST GERMANY AND BEYOND

Florian Urban is Professor of Architectural History, and Head of History of Architecture and Urban Studies at the Glasgow School of Art. Born and raised in Germany, he holds a MA in Urban Planning from UCLA and a Ph.D. in History and Theory of Architecture from MIT. He is the author, among others, of the books Neo-historical East Berlin – Architecture and Urban Design in the German Democratic Republic 1970-1990 (Ashgate, 2009), Tower and Slab – Histories of Global Mass Housing (Routledge, 2012), The New Tenement – Architecture in the Inner City since 1970 (Routledge 2018), and Postmodern Architecture in Socialist Poland - Transformation, Symbolic Form and National Identity (Routledge, 2021). He currently works on a project that examines the connections between postmodern architecture and the ecological discourse.
