ROMAGNA TROPICALE

Saturday 22nd February 10.30am

/ a work by Pascal Bernhardt

Between May 16 and 17, 2023, a devastating flood struck Romagna, submerging the region under 250 million cubic meters of water, with 23 rivers overflowing and thousands of landslides. This film explores the disaster and its consequences through the testimonies of residents, activists, and writers like Wu Ming, exposing institutional responsibilities and the development model that made the territory vulnerable—at a time when a radical environmental rethink is urgently needed.
